

Municipality of Delft chooses Unit4 ERPx for future-proof financial processes

The municipality of Delft has opted for Unit4 ERPx for future-proof financial processes. After a tender process, the contract was awarded to Unit4 with ERPx because the software is future-proof and easy-to-use software. With this financial system, the municipality can easily respond to developments within the markets and its own financial processes, preparing it for the future.

Taking information literacy to the next level

The municipality of Delft is part of the Rotterdam and The Hague Metropolitan Region and has a population of 106,000. The city is known as a city of knowledge, thanks to the presence of the Technical University and the TNO and Deltares research institutes, among others. To continue to develop as a city and to be prepared for the future, the municipality was looking for a new financial system that was able to raise the provision of information within the organization to a higher level in order to improve efficiency and effectiveness within the organization. They wanted a standard solution that was easy to configure, for example, in various workflows. It was also important to the municipality of Delft that the new system be known as user-friendly and efficient. Unit4, with ERPx and its track record in the Dutch public sector, has proven to offer all this.

Successful and efficient processes guaranteed

The municipality of Delft will use ERPx for the management of accounts payable and accounts receivable, procurement, and contract management, among other things. Features offered by ERPx that are highly valued by the municipality for these processes include built-in notifications and reminders, and the transparent display and adaptability of workflows.

“In the end, Unit4’s ERPx was the solution that best suited our needs. This is thanks to its user-friendliness and ease of configuration, while at the same time being a standard solution with a proven track record.”

Head of Finance
Municipality of Delft

Head of Finance at the Municipality of Delft: “In our call for tenders for a new financial processes system, several parties passed the review. In the end, ERPx from Unit4 was the solution that best met our needs. This is thanks to its user-friendliness and ease of configuration, while at the same time being a standard solution with a proven track record. I am confident that we are prepared for the future with this solution.”

Wilfried Teunissen, Sales Manager Public Sector at Unit4: “The fact that the municipality of Delft has chosen Unit4 and our ERPx solution is confirmation that this solution perfectly matches the needs of organizations in the public sector.
