

Helping you build your path to Success

Unlock value, every step of the way

Selecting a software partner is a crucial decision, and it's essential to evaluate their ability to collaborate effectively with your organization. Beyond delivering the necessary product, it's equally important that they provide tailored ongoing customer and service support, aligning with your internal capabilities and resources. This ensures your organization consistently achieves the best return on investment.

Onboarding challenges, and the absence of adequate support throughout their journey, can result in businesses suffering from underutilized software, decreased productivity, and missed opportunities for growth.

Unit4 is here to change that.

Our goal at Unit4 is to simplify your journey with us and that's why we have created Success4U, a flexible and outcome-driven approach to customer success.

With Success4U, you benefit from adaptable support that aligns seamlessly with your strategy. Craft a success plan that empowers you to optimize processes, achieve impactful business outcomes, and evolves alongside your journey, continually enhancing overall value.

We help drive your strategy with data insight, identifying the business outcomes that suit your business best.

How does Success4U work?

Success4U is a subscription wrapper that provides you with a single access point to the Unit4 service portfolio, with expert guidance to enable maximum value realization from your Unit4 investment - from onboarding, all the way through your journey.

Success4U provides our customers easy access to Unit4 Services, including Customer Success Management, Education, Professional Services, and Support, as well as complementary operational and partner services. There's no upfront commitment to a large project, allowing your services approach to evolve as your strategy matures.

Because we are experts in realizing customer outcomes from our software, we can provide you with delivery certainty; you no longer have to worry about project overrun. Our work packages are clearly defined so you are clear on the work required to achieve the required outcome, and you can rest assured that we've executed the approach many times before!
